

GARY ANDERSON

Gary's stand-up explores introspection with a likable twist that's described as: original, smart, and evolving.

Initially, Gary attempted stand-up to check off a box on his bucket list. He found that the rush from laughter filled the void from competing on the gridiron. Five years later, Gary has spent a year in New York and has advanced through the highly-decorated San Francisco comedy scene, and now tours throughout the country.

Gary is driven to one day have someone else write his bio instead of writing it himself, in third person. He has been featured on "Live at Gotham" on AXS and hopes to be on your TV set much more in the coming months and years.

/cornbreadanderson

@gcornbread